Valerie is the deputy principal of a primary school in regional town in east-central Alberta, Canada. She would be keen to connect on reading intervention, structured literacy and instructional leadership. She loves to learn new things, and once she is interested in something, she will try to learn everything about it. This past year she did a deep dive into structured literacy and would love to connect with someone to share knowledge, strategies, and skills.

Andrew is the deputy principal of a primary school in Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada. He is interested in exploring leadership, inclusive education, STEM, and technology. He has a keen interest in the Maker Movement and technology, and really enjoy learning more about electronics. He looks forward to connecting with another educator to help grow his school community and culture.
